Like travellers on a ship that feels the power of a strong wind among its unfurled sails, we began the year on a chartered course. There were waves to trouble the placidity of the water, yet the thrust of progress drove it ever on course to its final port. In the end it comes to rest also like a ship that is nestled calmly at anchor. But the year's journey, will, in the years to come, blossom into a memory of infinite beauty.

LUCIAN ADAMS

So many times people search for the appropriate words to make visitors and newcomers feel comfortable. The finding of these words is difficult and often impossible. Mr. Adams is one person of a small number who can express himself warmly. The words that he chooses are "Welcome to Viking Harbour".

Through his efforts to better understand the students and their problems he has brought them and members of the faculty to a closer relationship; thus fulfilling the meaning of "Viking Harbour", and realizing that the purpose of a harbour is to shelter and protect the people within the harbour.

The 1967 Viking is sincerely dedicated to Mr. Lucian Adams, Assistant-Principal of Valley High School.

At Class Day,
May 26 1966, we watched the program with great expectations and looked forward to the time when we would be graduates.
Valley's Class
Day Program,
one of the school's outstanding traditions,
consists of skits,
honor awards,

Valley's Library is always a busy place scholarship presentations, and the naming of the Outstanding Junior. Steve Hedge-peth received this honor. Girls wear dressy pastels and carry flowers. Boys wear conservative dark suits and a boutonniere. There is hardly a dry eye among the seniors as they conclude the program by singing the Class Hymn.

Valley's halls knew the joy of life. Laughter was everywhere mingled with the enchanting excitement of activities that spun themselves into an endless web of fun and joy. Friendships were made that will last lifetimes and live eternally as cherished memories. Games, parties, dances, tournaments—these were VIKING HARBOUR along with the hard work involved in scholastic and athletic achievement.

Editor, Linda Eastburn, reflects on memories of a year of hard work, and mementos of a senior.

Valley tasted of the adventure of worlds to conquer through books. New friends, new faces, new experiences, willingly or unwillingly, were discovered in classes. Minds mysteriously blossomed with the wonder of creativity and inspiration.

There was the excitement that competition brings to a fighting spirit. In full measure Valley displayed a valiant defense in the face of any foe. With pride the Vikings brought their victories home. With courage they accepted defeat.

All these things and more Valley knew in abundance and watched as they grew into the exciting experiences that became VIKING HARBOUR, 1967.

TO THE SENIORS OF 1967:

Congratulations on completing the first part of your formal education. No doubt you entered Valley four, five or six years ago with certain goals or aspirations in mind. Obviously all or some of these have been attained. I trust Valley has had some part in helping you reach these goals; but more important than your present accomplishment is the hope that Valley has challenged you to plan for a future that will be interesting, stimulating and productive for both you and the society of which you are a part.

If Valley has guided you in envisioning or planning for a wholesome, worthwhile tomorrow—then we can point with pride to "Commencement Time" as we say "Good Luck" and Best Wishes".

J. C. Cantrell

To The Senior Class 1967

Congratulations to each of you on your reaching this goal. I hope you will continue to learn and not rest on your past achievements; education is never complete and learning never ceases. May each of you use your past and future accomplishments to build a better community.

LUCIAN ADAMS

To the Seniors of 1967—

You are now joining a select group known as high school graduates. For twelve years you have been looking forward to this time. Now you must decide what road to take into the future. I would hope that all of you would take the road to higher education. Our complex world has a great need for people who can demonstrate leadership. This quality can better be developed through further education.

May I congratulate each and every one of you on your past achievements. May I wish for you great success in the future.

Well, then—our course is chosen, spread the sail,
Heave aft the lead, and mark the soundings well;
Look to the helm, good master; many a shoal

Stars and Stripes Blow Over Valley

The beloved "Stars and Stripes" blowing in the breeze has always been a very inspirational and moving sight. Recently it has become a more meaningful one to all Valley students and perhaps even to the community at large.

On Thursday, January 26, the Naval Reserve, at the request of the Creative Writing Class, initiated a ceremony of raising and lowering the flag with the proper ceremonies. This program continued throughout the school year.

The officers of the sponsoring organizations were given instructions in flag etiquette by the Naval Reserve.

All concerned in this project are hopeful that the student body will respond strongly. Patriotism is often neglected or shown mere lip service. With the instigation of the flag ceremonies, it will be possible for all students to participate in a worthwhile civic activity.

The flag is handed to members of the Naval Reserve.

Darrell Smith and Marshall Goldsmith are instructed by the Naval Reserve in proper folding of the flag.

Almost finished with their task, Bruce Sturgeon and Don Yeager watch the careful instruction given to Darrell and Marshall.

To carry out the theme of the prom, Juniors prepare to cut trees.

Trees also had to be painted ...

Juniors and Seniors were honored by the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Pickett

And so, they were.

The Sweetheart Tree

Senior 1966

Junior boys transported trees to the school

Bobby Ball escorts Mrs. Allen, junior sponsor of the prom.

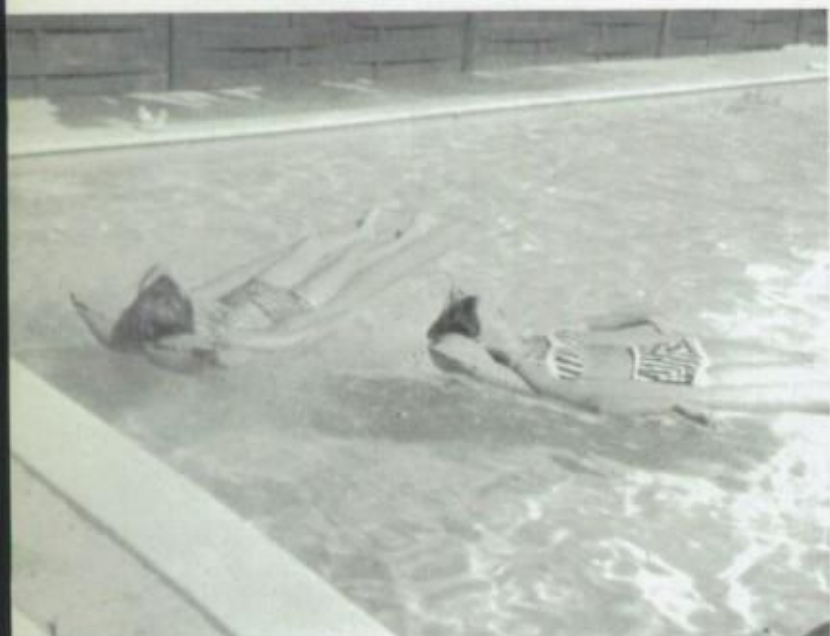

Gary Edwards and the Embers enchanted the evening with music.

Every class, in its junior year takes the responsibility of giving a prom in honor of the graduating class. A theme is selected, committees are chosen, and the long, hard planning begins. As prom time draws nearer, the seniors begin to worry if "this prom will be as good as the one we gave last year", while the juniors boast that "this will be the best prom ever to be given to a senior class at Valley." These are the feelings of the graduating class of 1967 both in its junior and senior years. These are traditional feelings because the past classes of Valley have experienced them just as the future classes will.

Exhausted, Jerry Jones and date Christy Badger talk about the prom.

During The Summer We . . .

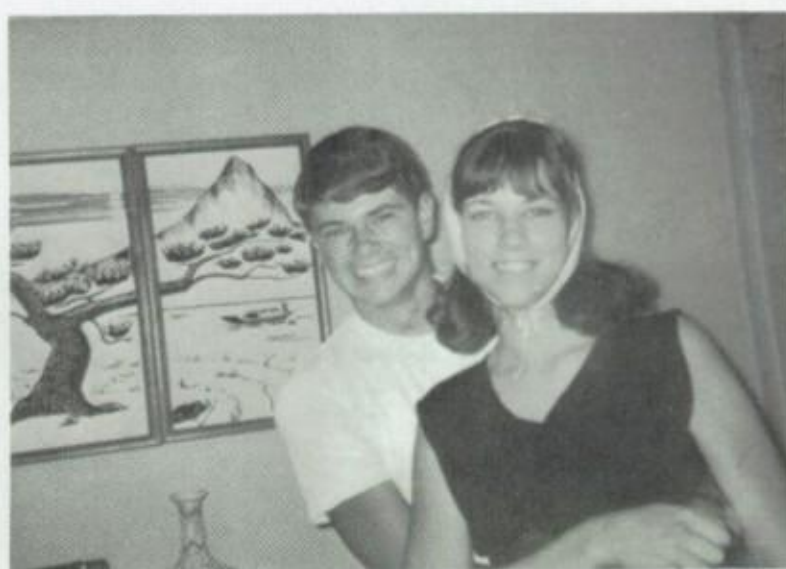

Cooled off with a lazy swim in the pool . . .

Visited Churchill Downs . . .

Went riding on a bicycle built for four . . .

Smiled for the cameraman . . .

Just smiled . . .

Played tackle football . . .

Everyone was bright and cheery in the ... uh ... morning.

Breakfast was ordered and all waited patiently.

A First Senior Ring Breakfast

Happy seniors converse with other happy seniors.

Many of us had never experienced breakfast before.

Proud to be seniors, and even prouder of our newly acquired rings, we started the year right. Early that gray rainy morning Seniors set out to eat breakfast at Uncle Hank's Pancake Cottage. We filled ourselves to the brim with food, talk, laughter and fun and left just in time to arrive at school for homeroom.

The Junior-Senior Football Game

SENIORS, SENIORS, YEA!

Practice played a large part in the game; minor injuries were not uncommon.

"When the tackle comes after you, you get him ... I mean her."

"Now girls, you listen and you listen good—Smear 'em."

Envious members of the "Queen's Court" gaze upon the pretty winner.

Participants of the Sadie Hawkins Day Race listen intently.

Caught!

"Ah now pronounces hitched these two youngins."

It's too late to turn back now!

Speech Club Sponsors Sadie Hawkins Day Race and Dance

And the race was on! On November 26, 1966, Valley High School Football Field was the scene of zany and madcap escapades. For the first time, the girl could chase after the guy and be within her own rights.

When the race was over, the captured fella' was to be taken to the dance and could be forced into marriage for 25¢—including the ring and license! To celebrate the "joyous" occasion, "hard liquor" was available in the form of icy cold apple cider!

"Oh, B.J. isn't this exciting?"

OK Collins, let's see you talk your way out of this one!

Suddenly everyone realized that the time had come ... we were seniors.

Monkey hear no evil, see no evil, speak no evil ... HA, HA, HA.

Chief Miller say UGH!

The float committee for class of '67 display their masterpiece.

And now we present Miss Kentucky of 1984.

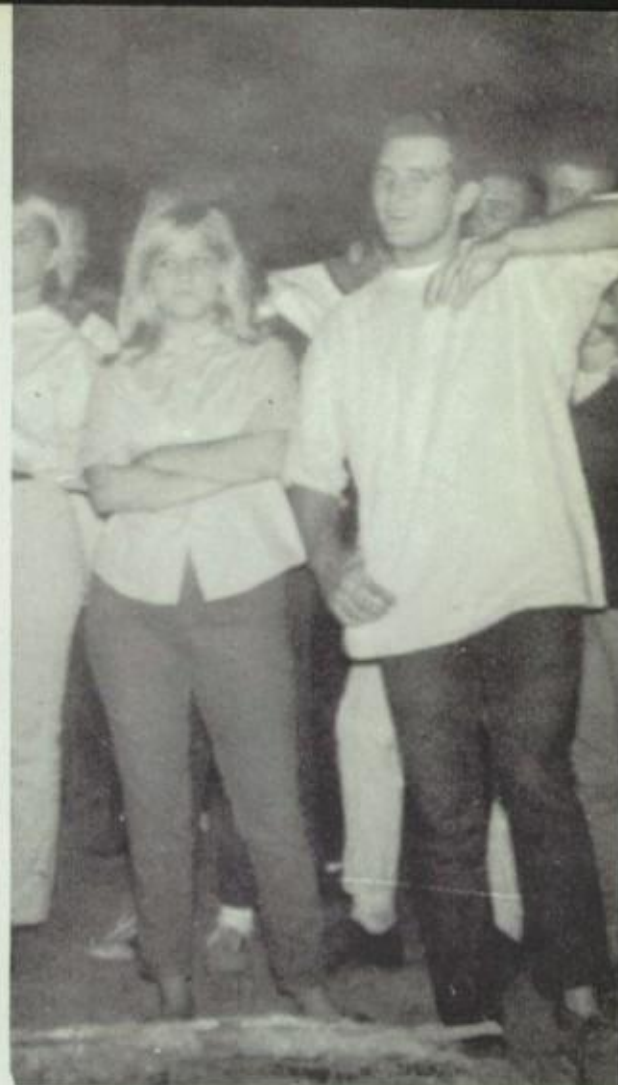

"This could be very interesting."

Jerry uses Carolyn to boost his height.

The Dodge Rebellion wants you!

And we're going to beat them 'cause we want to beat them!

Decorating for the Basketball Homecoming was lots of fun, as well as being educational.

There's a way to make a basket for your team, and then there's a WAY.

Could this sleeping beauty have stayed up half the night studying? 143

We found Psychology to be challenging and worthwhile in our learning.

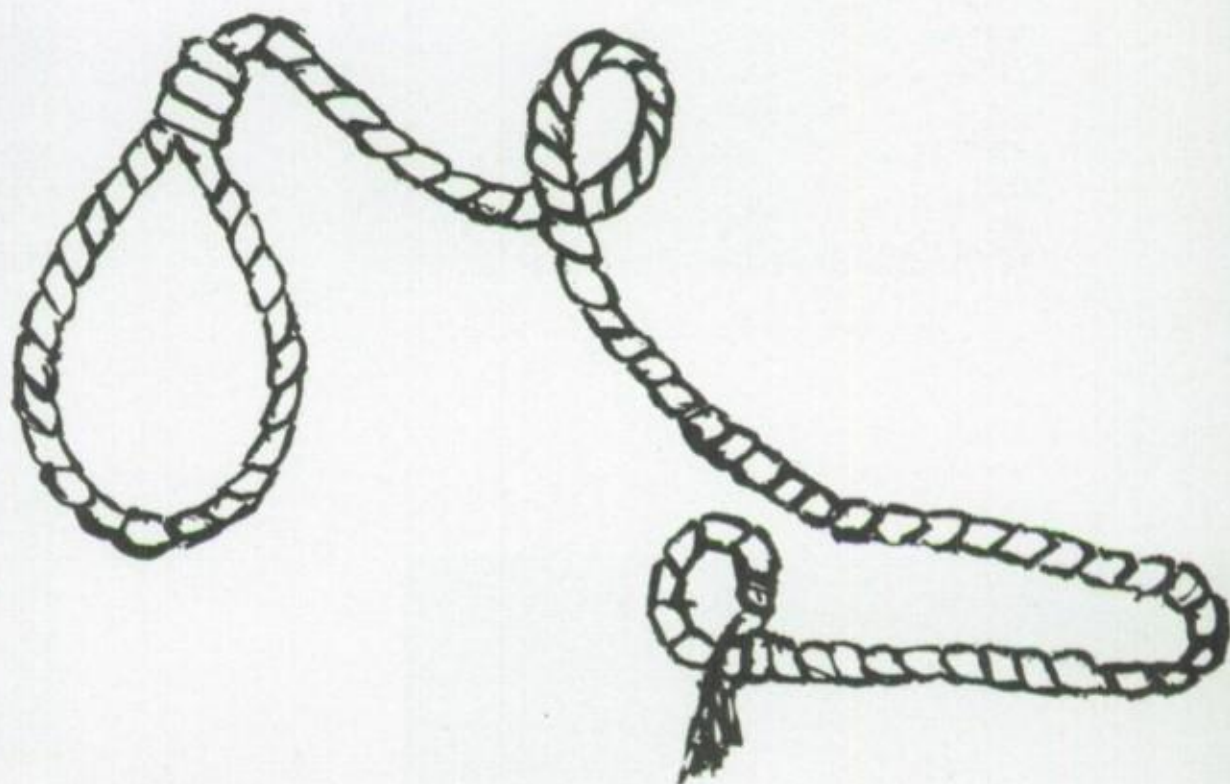

Give it the old Heave Ho.

Our President—going up in the world.

“Not Enough Rope”

JoAnn Tackett is shown here, helping Becky Grant to apply make up for the part of an old lady.

Seniors Judy Kukielka, Phil Cease and Becky Grant brought home two trophies with the Speech Club's entry in the Regional and County Drama Festival.

The play, a one-act comedy by Elaine May won first place as the best play and Becky Grant was selected as the best actress.

Miss Carr's mother helped Judy to learn a few steps for her dance routine.

Looking Back

Remember K.U.N.A.?

Seniors invaded Uncle Hank's

Looking forward to college

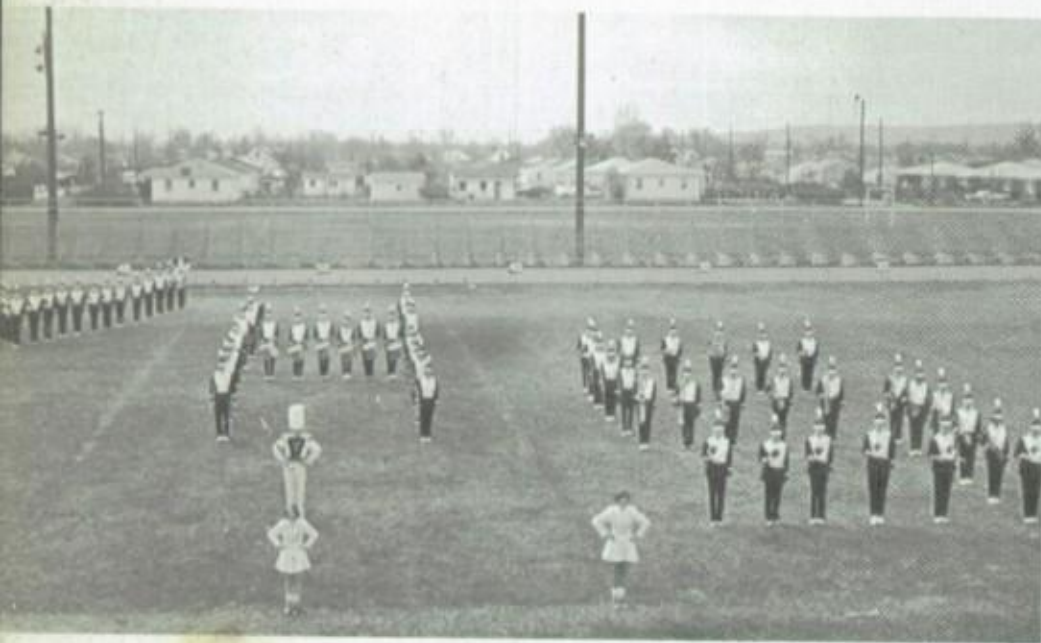

During Humanities we ... ah ... well ...

We played in the snow

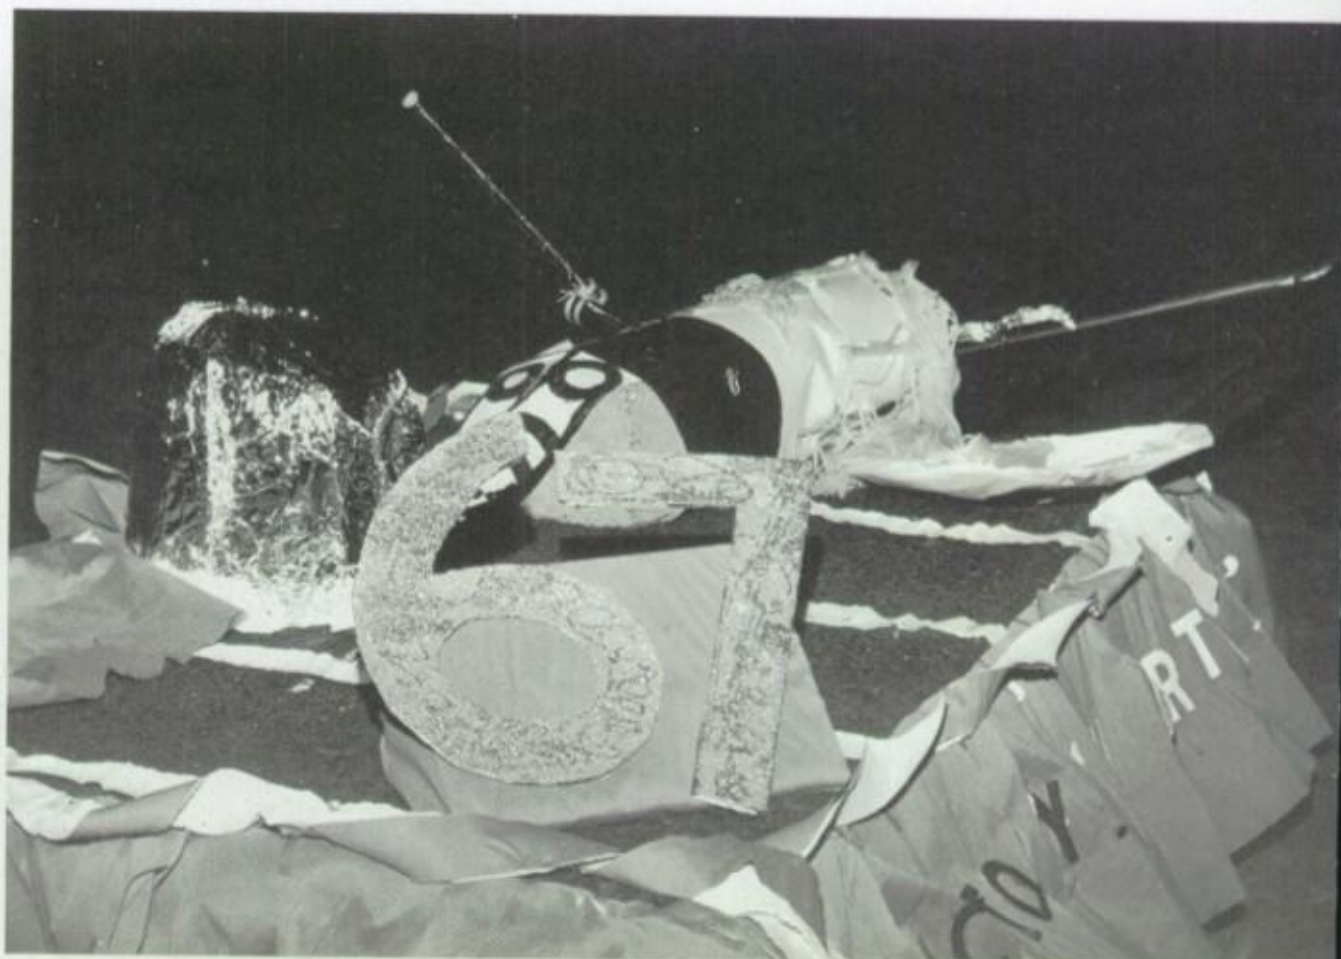

Only Memories . . .

WE WERE INSPIRED. WE WERE REQUIRED.
WE PERSPIRED. NOW IT'S OVER . . .

We have nothing to look back to except the memories. The throbbing expectation of our Senior Year, receiving our rings, senior breakfast, and the many other activities of the year. It's gone forever—over—nothing left—except to reminiscence.

John Glenn takes high school editors into orbit

Steph quizzes Col. John Glenn

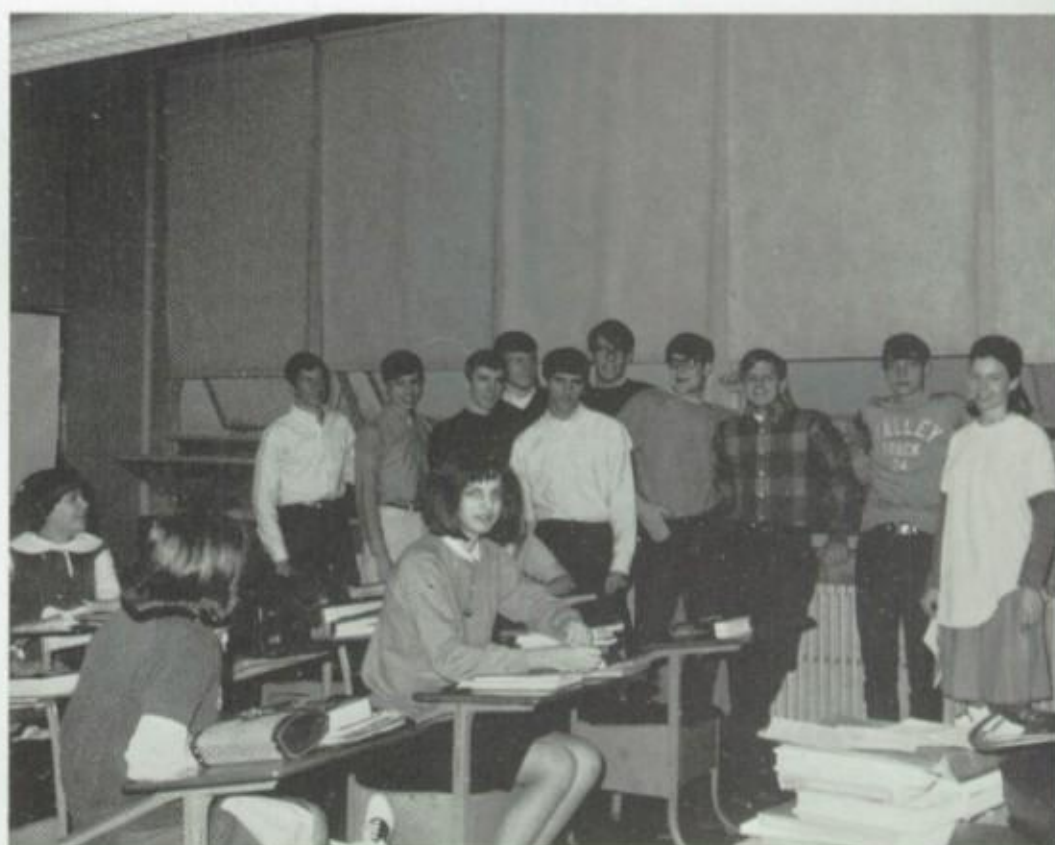

February 16, the date of the JOHN GLENN press conference for editors of high school newspapers, meant as much to me as his historical venture into space February 20, 1962. The value of interest, intelligence, and inspiration was evident in his answers concerning science, religion, and human interest. These left me with a lasting memory. He impressed me not only as a man of science, but as a man of deep thought, and "humanness."

Sophomore

The last couple of weeks in January proved to be very stimulating to the Sophomore class. A few days before class elections, campaign speeches were given. Campaign managers could be identified by their general uneasiness, but on the whole, the speeches that were given turned out quite well considering the stress involved.

After the speeches had been given, students returned to their classes to make the final decisions. Then followed the characteristic days of handshaking and promise-making.

Sophomore Activities

Finished with the sophomore float, designers proudly display the masterpiece.

During the sophomore class elections, campaign managers and candidates talked of picnics and other plans while voters listen.

Elections

ing. Finally, the long awaited day arrived—the day of the elections. For the candidates, tension began to build, votes were cast, and everything was over.

At last the officers were elected—President—DeLen Doutrick; Vice-President—Larry Massey; Secretary—Lynda Allyn; and Treasurer—Donna Babbage. Congratulations were expressed to the newly elected officers and the time came to begin to fulfill election promises.

"Get that Ball!"

Anxiety!!!

Catch this one, Jim!

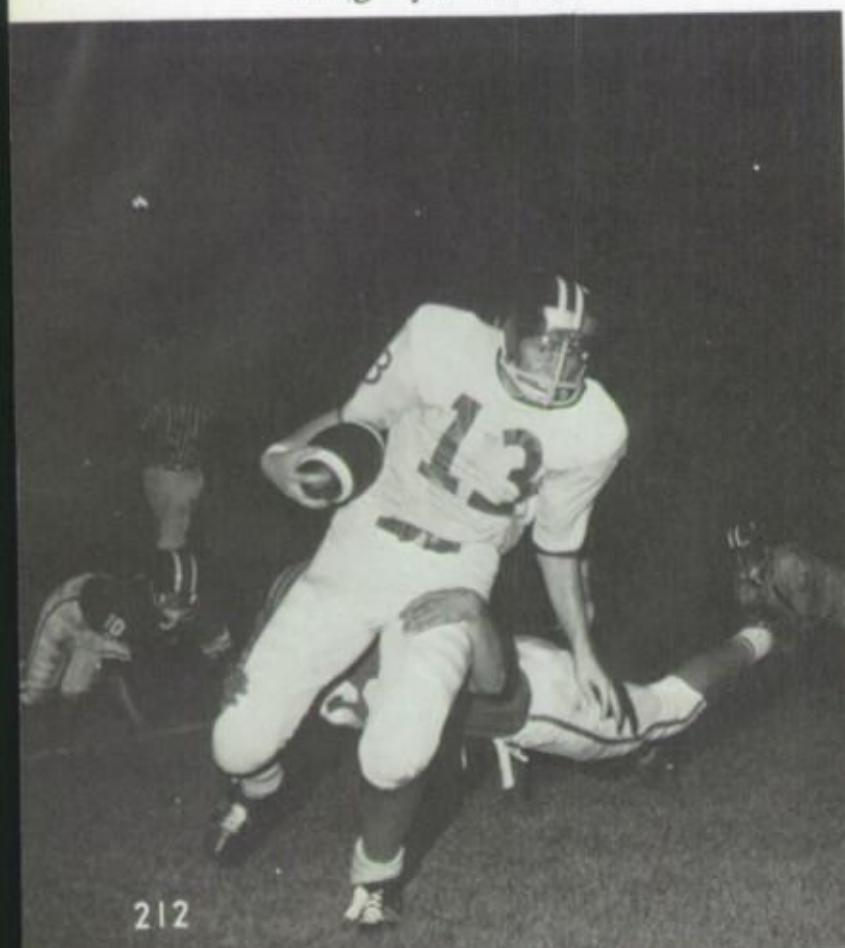

Move! You're in the way.

It sure is hot out here, coach.

I've got you now!!!

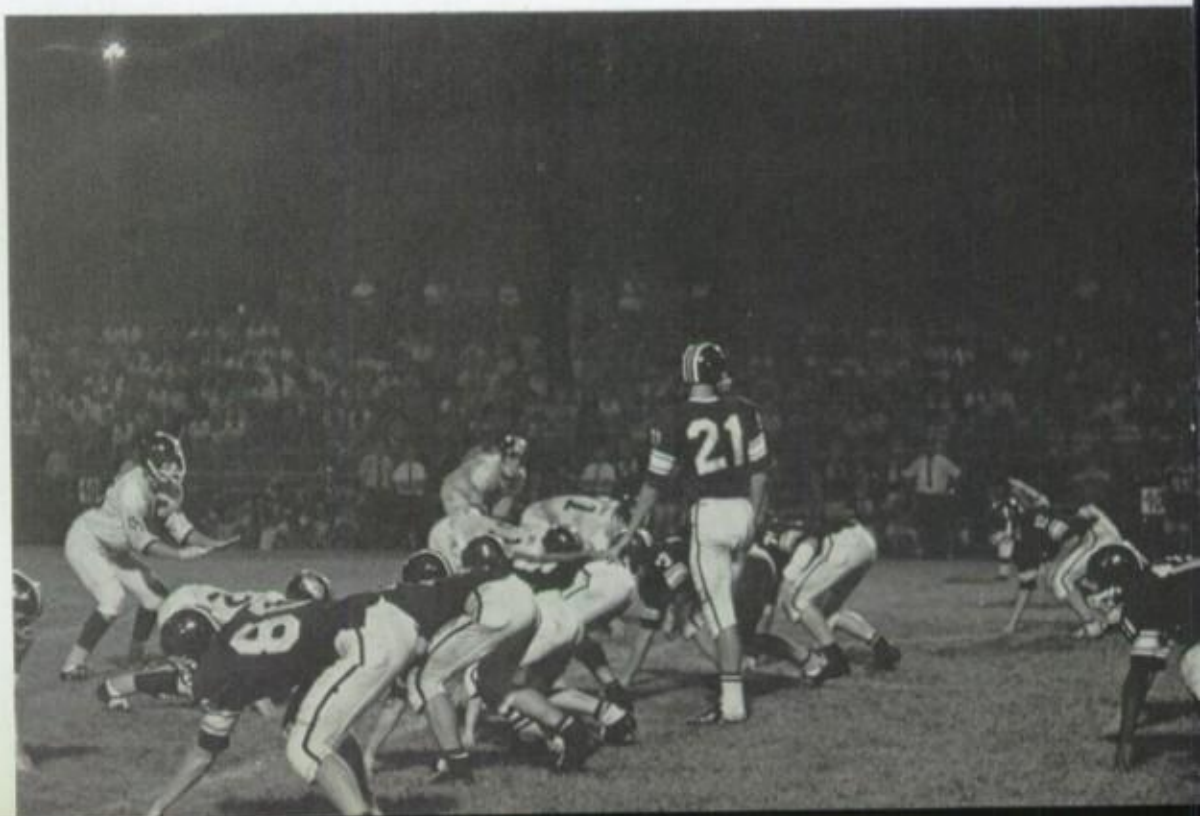

BAD BREAKS MAKE FAIR SEASON

Vikings' football during the '67 season was characterized by the following: good defense, a good line, a good back-field, good coaching, an average record, and bad breaks. Although Valley out-gained and out-played their opponents in the first eight games, they still recorded three losses, the most important a 13-0 loss to Butler, which cost the team at least a tie for the District Championship.

Valley's early season trouble, finding a place kicker, resulted in a 14-12 loss to Westport and a close 12-7 comeback victory over Fern Creek. In the opener, Viking fans saw transfer, James Brooks, who besides being an exciting runner, was to become the team's leading ball carrier. In the second quarter of the Fern Creek game, sophomore Andy Arnold (son of Coach Arnold) took over as quarterback, the position he will probably hold for the next two years.

Mike Fahey solved the team's extra point problem in the third game. While Valley was crushing Western 30-19, Fahey split the uprights with five consecutive conversions.

Set?!! Hut, Hut, Hut.

Halftime

is . . .

TOP GAME PLAYED

Valley's top game of the year was probably played against the East District Champion Eastern Eagles. In this first home game, trailing 7-6, Arnold and end Fred Bullard combined on a clutch 40 yard touchdown pass with less than two minutes remaining, that resulted in a 13-7 win.

After losing a rain-soaked game to Bishop David 13-0, the Vikings exploded in a 33-6 romp over Southern. This set the stage for the all-important Homecoming game against Butler. Since Butler had knocked off Pleasure Ridge, the Bears matched Valley's unbeaten district record. The opening kickoff was returned by Butler for a touchdown and the next time they had the ball the Bears scored again. Trailing 13-0 the Vikings drove the ball deep into Butler's territory several times, but always failed to take it over. The defense stopped the Bears cold from then on, but it was too late and the Vikings lost the chance to repeat as District Champions. It was the team's fourth consecutive loss to Butler.

Gardner gives helping hand!

Brooks downs a Bear

Butler downs Diz!

"... and furthermore, I propose that we go BEAR hunting tonight"

The walk that makes the earth tremble.

... whence came a magnanimous from the heavens.

And prior to the game, the masses met for a POW WOW.

"Come on, Anderson ... cut that out!"

TEAM BOUNCES BACK

Against Fairdale the team rebounded with a 33-9 victory, using younger players for almost the entire second half for the next game. Coach Arnold had a special incentive in preparing the team, since the Waggener Wildcats are coached by his friend and former assistant, John Stoll, Valley played a great game and in the third quarter was leading until Waggener came through with two touchdowns that resulted in a heartbreaking 29-27 loss.

Are we going to have BEAR MEAT, or not?

... and the quarterback pitches out to the tailback who runs through the number 2 slot—Everybody understand?

"SNOW BOWL" INAUGURATED

The final game of the year, as is now customary, was played against our arch-rival Pleasure Ridge. The game was christened the Snow-Bowl and a paper maché snowman valued at over $100 was made to present to the victorious Panthers. This trophy will be alternated between the schools, going to the winner of the annual game. The game was postponed one week due to an early, unexpected 15 inch snow and the Vikings (despite a boisterous pep-rally) suffered a mental let-down. The Panthers went on to a 33-6 victory with the lone Viking score coming late in the game.

Although Valley's 5-5 record was not bad and the team played some fine football, the season was disappointing. With a little good luck (or a lack of bad luck) the Vikings could have had an 8-2 record and even possibly have played for the State Championship.

I'll help dress you, and you help dress me.

Arnold goes around his own right end as Engler and Sells block.

The POW WOW continues

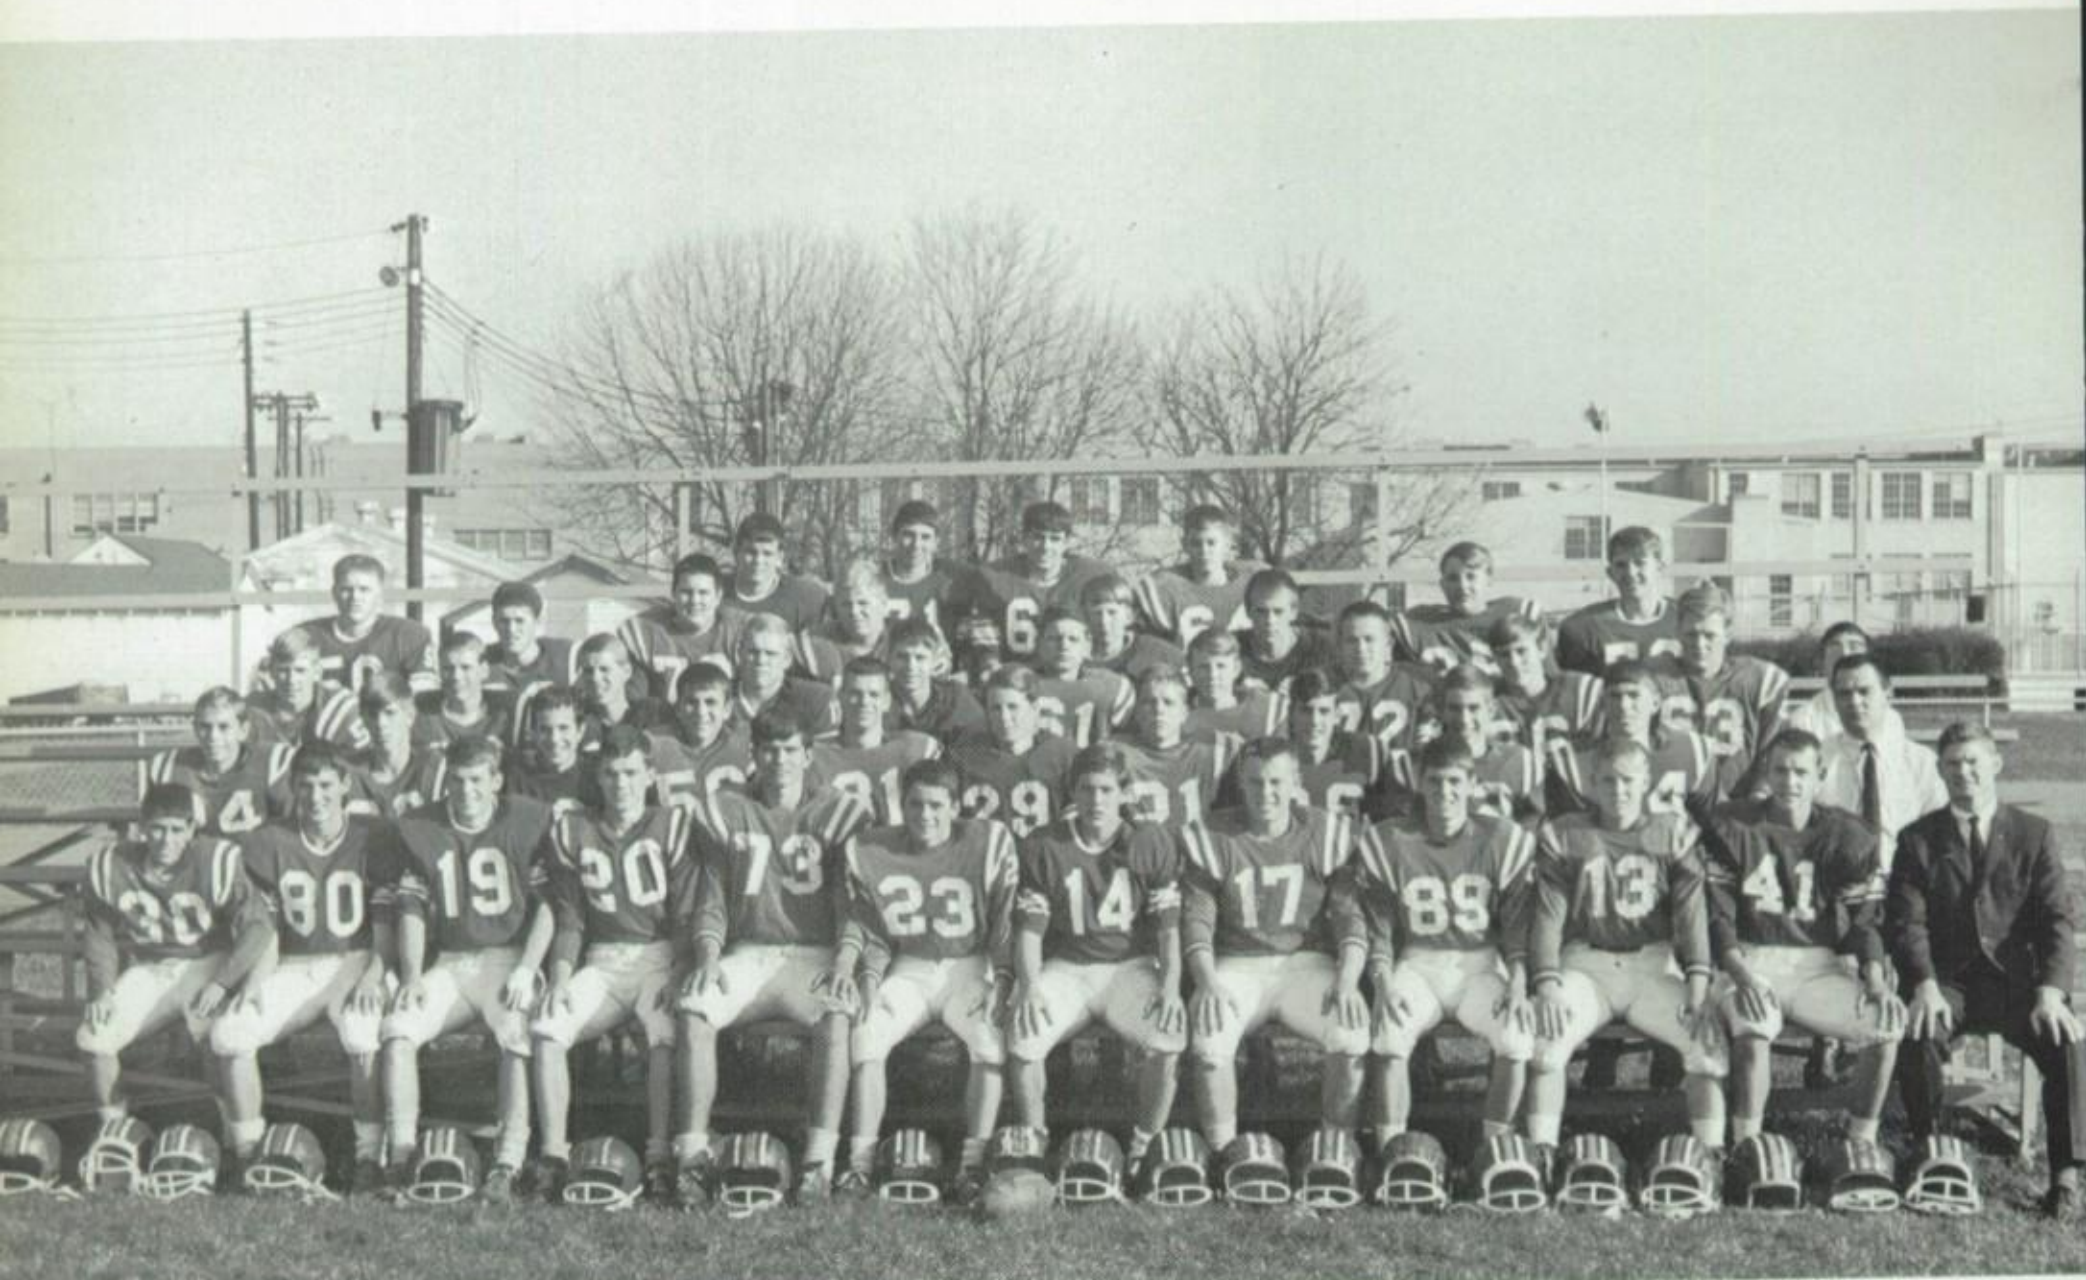

... and if we don't win this game, we run 300 miles at practice Monday.

This play looks like mudd!

J.V. FOOTBALL

The J.V. football squad even though it had only a 2-4 record can still be credited with having a successful season. Progress could be seen in each game, both offensively and defensively. Perhaps even more important, was the team's determination and spirit, that never lagged.

The J.V.'s always showed much fight and pride for their school even when they were down. Although the team had a losing season, they exhibited many qualities which become a champion.

Leading the team to their victories were Richard "Howdy-Doody" Summers, Wes Miller and Kerry Wyatt. Coaching this year were Mr. Harold Craig and Mr. Ken Voorhis. The manager was Jim Eastburn.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

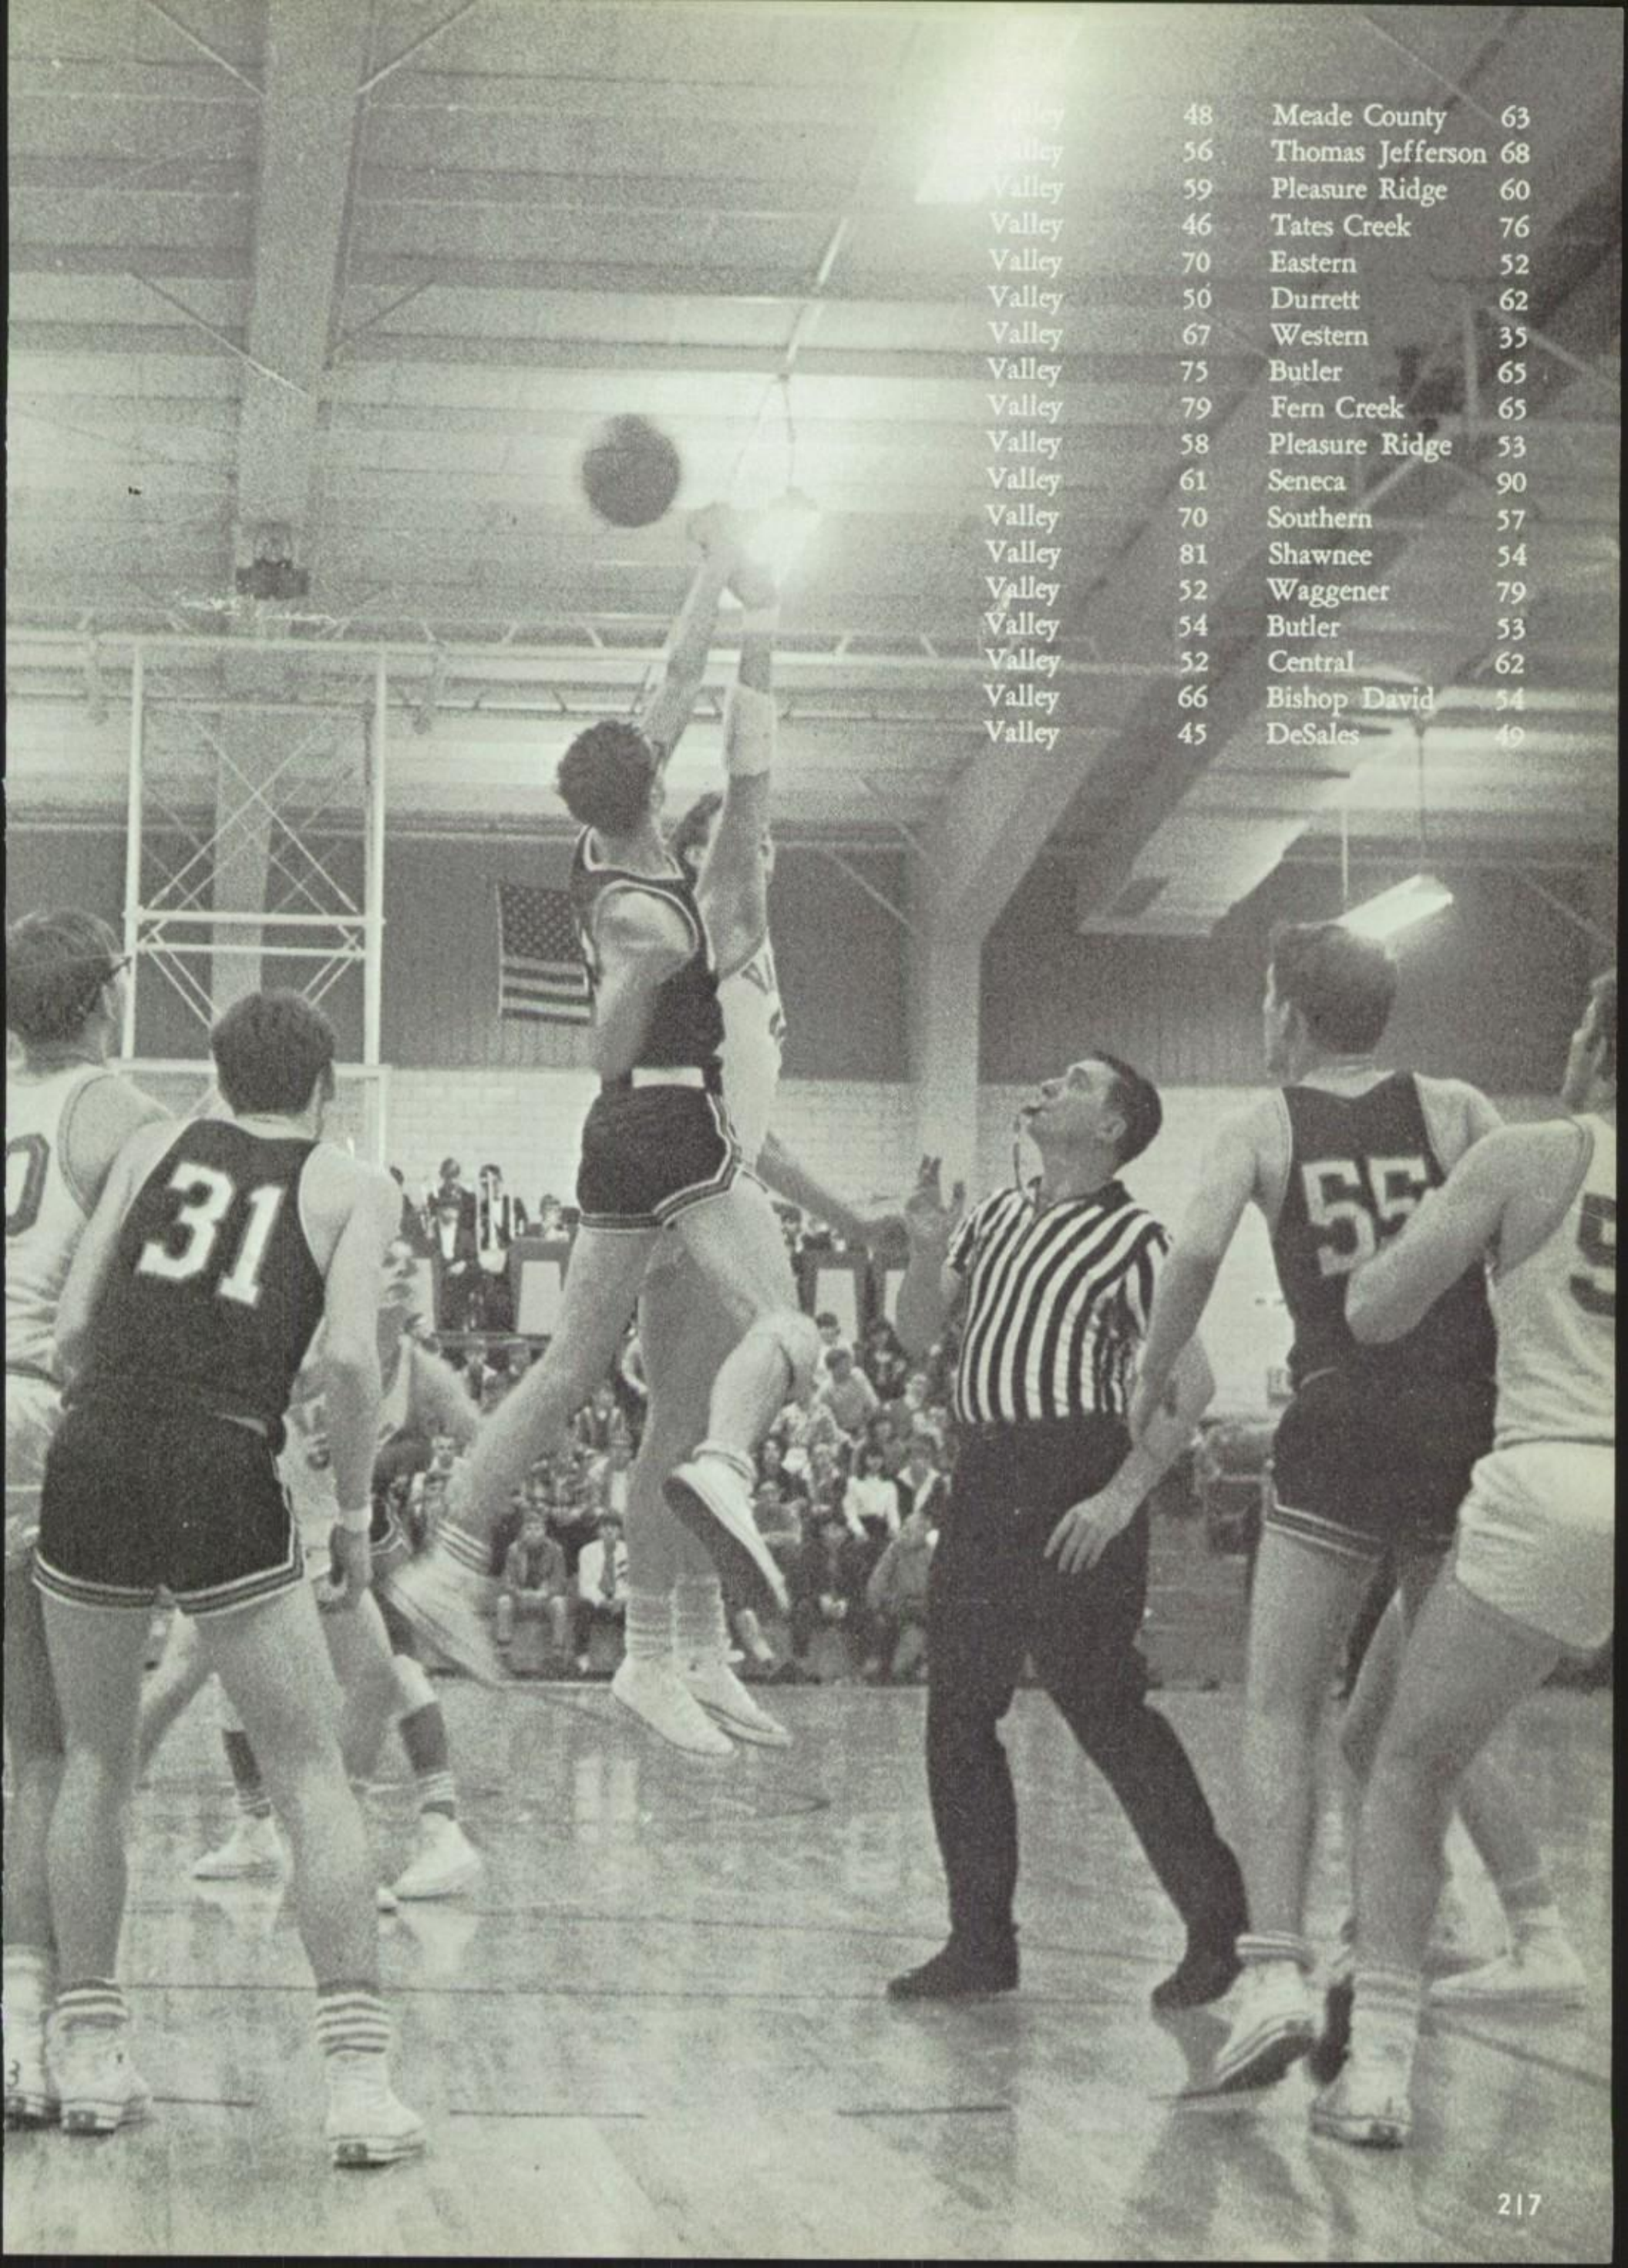

The frosh football team opened the season with an exciting triumph over the Southern Trojans. This win was followed by consecutive victories over Waggener (7-0) and Fairdale (28-6).

Weeks before the Mason-Dixon Games began, Valley's Track Team started to condition themselves for the much looked for event. They practiced faithfully after school, running through the building at a constant pace. The coaches spurred them on and when the time arrived, they all felt ready. Bob Ball decided that after his episode which pulled muscles last year, he would not enter the games. The Mason-Dixon Games were February 18, 1967—Richard Smith placed second in the 16 Pound Shot Put event between state high schools.

Track Season opened officially on February 23, and although the other entries did not qualify in the heats, the team didn't expect any trouble in winning the Region during the coming season. Their great disappointment in their performance at the first event of the year was reflected in the diligent work put forth afterwards.

The newly formed Gymnastics Team practiced daily on various feats.

With the introduction of new cheer formations, Phil proved to be an important part of the squad.

Hurray team!!

Besides cheering, the Varsity Cheerleaders also performed other duties.

They did their best; They tried. They tried, so hard.

The Varsity Cheerleaders, this year, attended a summer cheerleading clinic at the University of Kentucky, where they learned new cheers, motions and pom-pom routines. They also attended lectures, classes in tumbling, and competed against squads of other cheerleaders from nine different states.

The fact that there is a boy on the squad has enabled the group to perform more difficult acrobatics.

The cheerleaders won honors each time they competed and won "Honorable Mention" from the entire clinic. They have worked sincerely and diligently to promote enthusiasm and school spirit among the student body and all of the athletic teams.

The Junior Varsity Cheerleaders proved to be enthusiastic, friendly, and hardworking throughout the year. The spectators at the various junior varsity events responded very well to the five junior misses.

Coach "Retires" From Football

Mr. Arnold, the "Blackbeard of Viking Harbor," has retired to an enchanting island known as the athletic department.

Coach, friend, and inspiration behind many football players, Mr. Arnold was born August 14, 1920 in Fairdale, Kentucky, where he also attended high school. As a teenager, Mr. Arnold helped his father farm. This is where he gained the experience to own and operate his own farm in Meade County, where he raises corn, hogs, tobacco, and black angus cattle.

Mr. Arnold attended Western Kentucky State University where he was captain of the football team during his senior year and met Marian, who, in 1944, became his bride. He also attended Indiana University. At Western he was All-K.I.A.C. tackle and captain of the Hilltoppers.

After college Mr. Arnold toured with Uncle Sam and the United States Marines; he was seriously wounded on Okinawa. He served as a major during World War II.

In 1947, he began his high school coaching career at Fairdale High School, where he coached for five years and later came to Valley in 1952. Mr. Arnold's pet peeve is "players who don't get the job done." Many of us probably know this. What we don't know might be that he is particularly fond of steak and shrimp, and he gets a kick out of fishing, hunting, and farming.

His record is 70 wins, 56 losses, and seven ties as coach of the Vikings.

Mr. Arnold's coaching career (15 years) at Valley is in the past, but his techniques and sincerity as a coach are fixtures in our memories.

Some of the friends of Coach Arnold honored him with a "This Is Your Life" Program at the Sun Valley Country Club, January 30. Mr. Adams served as toastmaster.

Beta Club Initiation

Beta Club members leave the gym after the initiation.

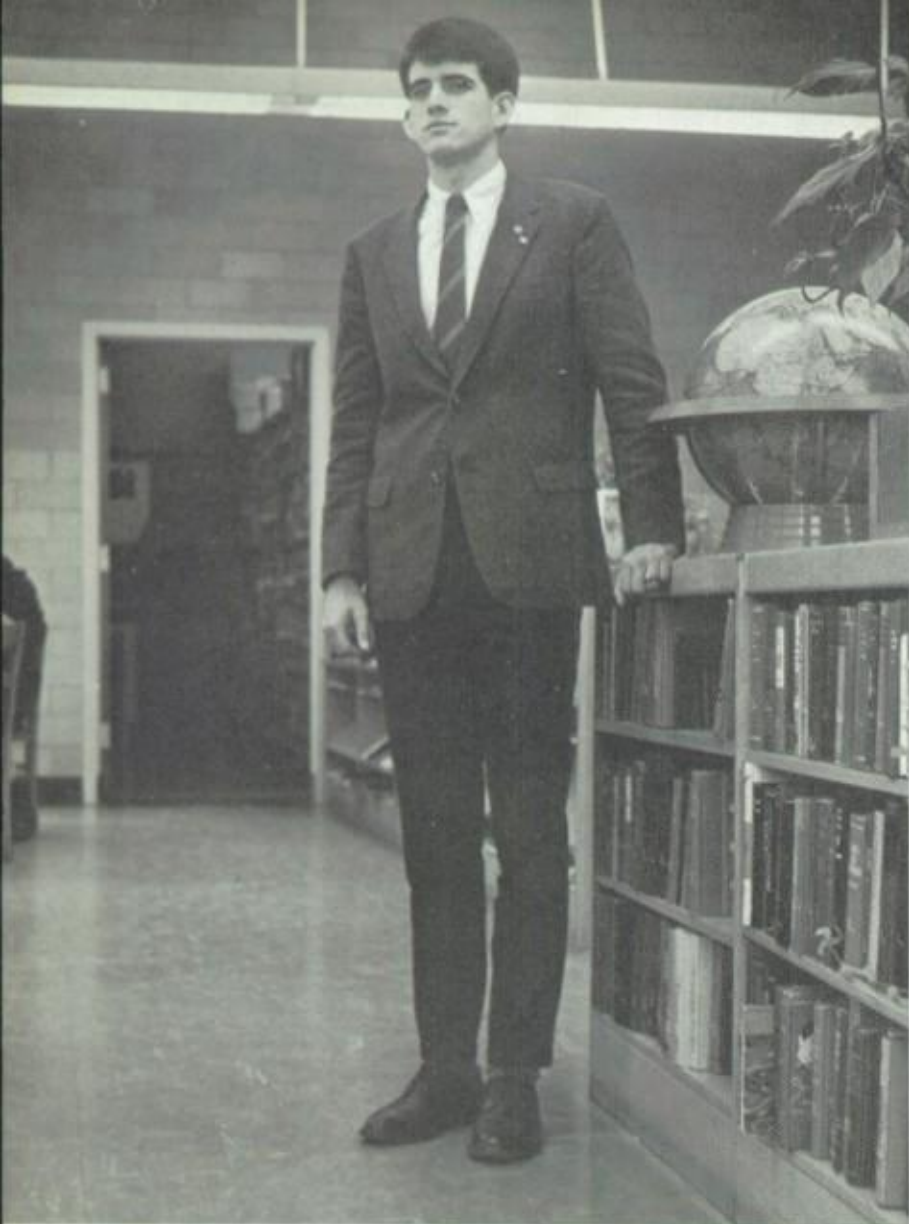

From the candle of Inspiration, passed the spirit of the Beta Club to both old and new members.

The National Beta Club is an organization, whose primary purpose is service — to its school and the community. The Beta Club is a selected group. Anyone receiving an invitation to join the Beta Club must have the following qualities: academic average of 3.2, and be approved by a faculty committee, who rank the members on the qualities of Character, Leadership, and Scholarship.

This year the Valley Chapter of the National Beta Club has the largest number of members that Valley has ever had in this club.

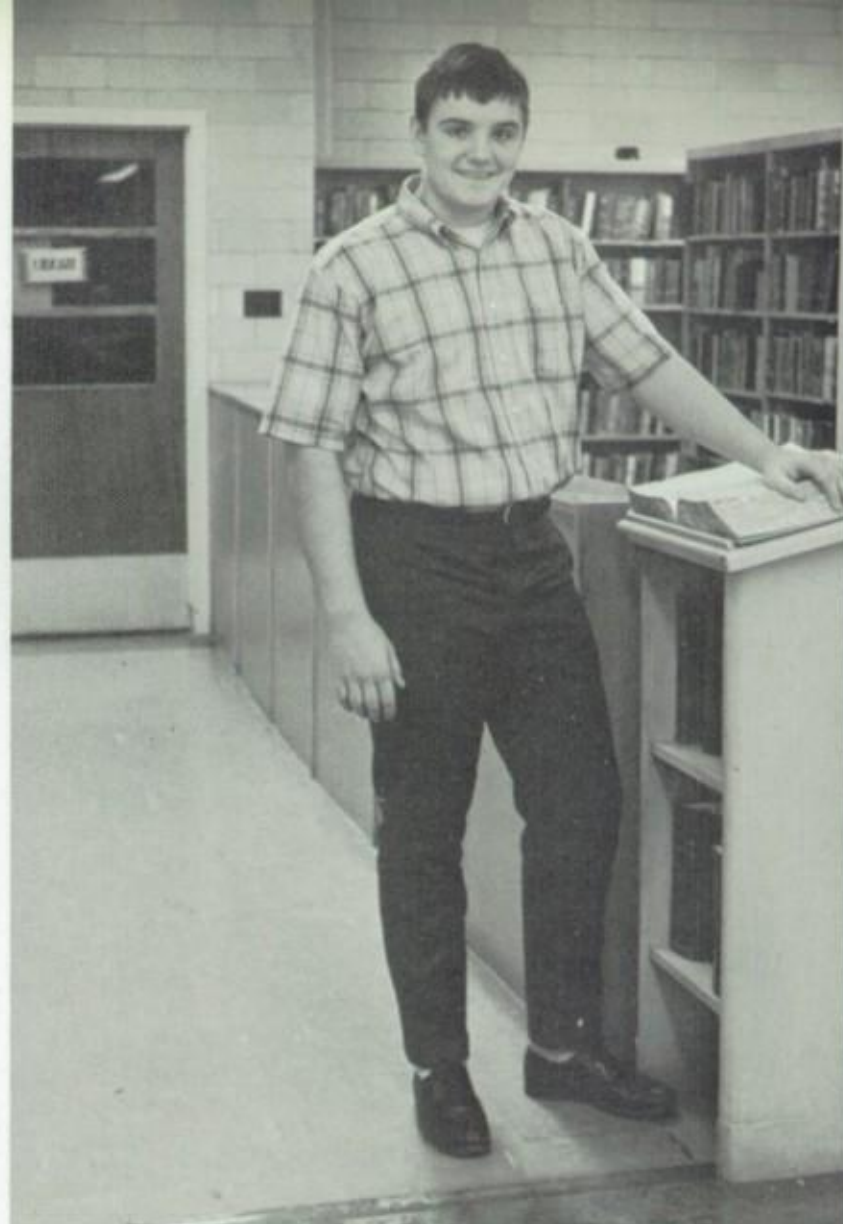

Members of the Family Living class served fruit punch and cake to the newly initiated Beta Club members and their parents.

Student Council

The Valley High Student Council is an organization established to: develop leadership; develop attitudes of, and practice in, good citizenship; promote harmonious relationships throughout the whole school; improve student-teacher relationships; improve school morale and spirit; provide a forum for student expression; and promote the general welfare of the school.

Its make up consists of an assembly of representatives, one elected from each homeroom, and an executive board of the four officers and representatives from each class, one from each.

Each year the Student Council sponsors a Pep Club, the Lost and Found Department, the Sick Room, School Spirit Trophy, College Scholarships, Basketball and Football Homecoming Dances, a School Safety Committee, and Teacher Appreciation Day.

This year, with the aid of the Senior Class, the Student Council is giving to the school a flag and flagpole for the football field.

Basketball Homecoming Queen — 1967

Queen's Court Basketball Homecoming '67

The portals of Viking Hall were arrayed in excitement and tears of happiness on January 20, Homecoming Night '67.

The candidates, filled with anticipation, were led onto the floor by their escorts while the Pep Band played strains of the romantic melody, "More."

A hush fell over the crowd assembled in Viking Hall as the name of the Queen was announced. Kisses, hugs, and tears followed, as Marky Willis was crowned Homecoming Queen '67 by Christy Badger, last year's Queen. And if one looked close, one could see a strong gleam of pride in the eyes of her escort, Eddie Harper.

Again as the Pep Band played, the girls were led off the floor and into a grandstand in the bleachers where congratulations were exchanged. Long will the melody "More" hold a happy note in the hearts of those four girls.

The girls were nominated by the varsity basketball team and managers, and the court itself was chosen by a point system. In this arrangement, each player listed five girls in declining order of preference. The top one on each list received five points, the second one received four points, and so forth. The Queen's Court consisted of the four girls who received the highest number of points. The final selection of the queen was, however, left to the student body at large.

The Spotlight

EXCERPTS FROM THE PHILOSOPHY OF VALLEY HIGH SCHOOL

We extend to each student every opportunity for achievement . . . We accept the precept of the worth and dignity of all, and our concern is with education which extends learning, deepens understanding, and changes behavior. We believe that education is a right, a privilege, and a necessity because the education of its citizenry is the hallmark and an integral part of a democracy and is essential to its survival . . .

We would endeavor to prepare the academically capable for college; we would seek to offer vocational guidance and training to those for whom high school education is probably terminal. We would guide each student in acquiring knowledge, attitudes, and skills to pave the way for economic self-sufficiency.

We consider equally important those attributes which make for the fullest and most satisfying life in work and in play. We would have each student become a moral and self-respecting, self-disciplined individual, aware of his own spiritual worth and able to recognize that quality in others. We would seek to give opportunities for learning and aesthetic appreciation in terms of the needs of our society and heritage. We would encourage each student to exert the proper care for himself morally and physically.

Choral Groups Provide Music at Valley's

The flickering of a flame reflecting the earnest face of a candle girl; the sound of silently shuffling feet, the echoes of Christmas carols that filled our halls—all these a prelude to Valley's traditional Christmas program.

The procession of students who entered Viking Hall saw the beautiful table display of greenery, an open Bible, and lighted tapers which cast great and beautiful shadows over the Christmas baskets that were placed on the gym floor.

As students sat in anticipating silence, the Choir and Girls' Chorus entered to the beautiful strains of "Hodie Christu Natus Est." The choral program began and it was as though the angels were again singing the good tidings of Christ's birth. We were transported to that BEAUTIFUL WORLD OF CHRISTMAS.

When the choral program ended another, but different, program got under way. Members of the National Honor Society and Beta Club distributed Christmas baskets to the needy in our area. They learned, as they saw the rewards of their work personified in smiles of gratitude, that Christmas really came to Valley High School.

Remember how we moaned when we found we weren't in the same home room. Remember how we rejoiced when ~~we~~ we found we had three classes together. Remember how disappointed we were when we couldn't be candy-strippers. Remember how we laughed that day in the lunchroom. Forget all the times I've spilled my problems to you. Forget 8th grade and all the history tests I failed. But don't forget me, kid, d'ya understand?

No wave disturbs the sea's vast depth,
Life flows on serenely.
The ship is anchored in quiet repose
While sunrise paints an horizon.
Calm she rests, her work completed;
Yet not still is she,
For with the sun come western winds
To fill her sails anew,
And beyond her cove of quiet rest
There lies another task.
And the quiet bay she owns today,
In the miracle of tomorrow,
Will become a memory treasured and dear
Of this yesterday she once knew.
